TRUTH WITHIN

'Main Amar Bharti Hu'... that means the fourth pillar of democracy! Media has been recognized as the fourth pillar for the supervision of parliamentary democracy based on the purview of the Constitution, Legislature, executive & judiciary . Undoubtedly, the role of media during the freedom struggle has now been archived in history. But after the independence of the whole system, the changes are made in so much of speed that various discrepancies have arouse.

It is the media that has alerted the power establishment from time to time and also have made them aware of the future aspirations. In fact, the freedom of expression expressed in the declared policies of the media is considered paramount. Whenever country faced challenges or agitations, 'media' has played its part in following this policy. Even in full responsibility, I can assume my duty, 'Of course! I am still in infancy'.

By time to time, it should be seen that my rise was in the form of a communal in 2001, but on 18 April 2005, my daily journey started. It was done by the editor-in-chief 'Mr. Shyam Anjan', who played the important role in the same management work, whereas I also received guidance from 'Shri Akshay Kumar Jain'. But in this short life, I have not only seen the autocratic and vandalism of power but also very close and serious have also poked my views. I have warned the ruling party & even the same opposition has alerted its accountability. We are proud that the courage to deal with the challenges has always been in the media.

But economic pressure is such a serious challenge, which has often forced many passengers to give up in the middle of the agony. My quotation is credited to 'Mr. Shailendra Kumar Jain'. Mr. 'Shailendra Kumar Jain' is not any business name, nor is there any major industrial or commerce family. But he is such a persuasive and passionate young man who, with the help of 'Amar Bharati', made a beacon & talked about the last citizen of the country, with the command of the top cut of power.

I never gave up hope. This is the reason why my journey with passion and consciousness is continuing. I'm just hopeful for a bright future. Along with this, I have now turned into a publishing group. As a commemorative story, since December 2003, the publication of the fortnightly magazine 'Rashtriya Behshara Jan' started, as the monthly magazine, 'Ashiyaana' associated with Real State is also being published.

The first stop of this convoy, starting from the national capital, is historical and international tourist city 'Agra' and the second stop was the state capital 'Lucknow'. With this, our publication is also being made from Haryana's capital 'Gururgram' and 'Mumbai'. Whereas future plans involve various parts of the country.

I not only expect, but I am confident that all of you will get a lot of support and support to give me this speedy journey.
